FORD TO HOLD PEACE CONFERENCE IN EUROPE

Will Charter a Liner and Take Over All of the Peace Advocates in This Country and Collect a Few
From Neutral Nations

(Special to The Herald)
New York, Nov. 24.—Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, announced today that he will take a peace expedition to Europe to end the war. He said that he had chartered the Scandinavian liner Oscar II, which will sail on Dec. 1, with Mr. Ford and his party. Mr. Ford will invite leading American peace advocates to join the expedition and those of neutral nations as well. He hopes to hold a great peace conference in some European city.

Mr. Ford, in a statement given out today, said: "The difficulty which has been confronting the belligerents is that there is no international tribunal to set into motion for the ending of the war. This peace conference will be such a body, that it will not only procure peace in Europe, but it will be the beginning of universal peace. There will never be another war. There will be a number of women. Mrs. Philip Snowden is to see President Wilson on Friday and I am to see Monsignor Bonzano, the Roman Catholic Apostolic delegate to the United States, and have set next Friday to have a talk with Cardinal Gibbon. There will probably be a representative among the peace delegates from the Catholic church.

She showed me how to read the cards and I used to do it sometimes.

Myra, Mrs. Burns and myself, went to Manchester, Mrs. Burns did not stay with us. She was in the depot when we got there with a man whom she introduced as Mr. Alantey. I glanced around and saw him kiss her before she got on the train.

night, I told him he could. That was the last I saw of him."

Frank E. Davis of Boston, motorman for the Boston Elevated road, testified to coming to the jail to see his sister. Her appearance is very much different from what it was several years ago. She is worse now. I was at home at the time of my father's funeral. As we stood around Myra said, I only wished I had been speaking with father before he died. I was up to Nottingham prior to coming to see Myra at the jail. I told Myra I was coming to see Myra at the jail and I asked her to accompany me. She said she wouldn't and said I had better keep away from her.

On cross examination: Myra said: "There has been something said that I should have not said and I am not going." I did not want to come to Portsmouth alone and I thought I would ask Myra to come with me as company. After I learned of the statements made by Myra as to threats against Burns, I never went near her again.

Court took a recess at this point until 1:45 this afternoon.

Tuesday Afternoon

That Mrs. Burns, on trial in the Superior Court here on a charge of causing the death of her husband by giving cyanide of potassium to him to take, played almost daily with her fortune telling cards was testified to yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Cora Morrison of Nottingham. Mrs. Morrison, one of the state witnesses was put on the stand by Col. Bartlett after Dr. Libby of Boston had been examined, and she gave a history of Mrs. Burns' conduct at her home on the day previous to the death of Burns. She said that on the Monday morning Mrs. Burns appeared far from sane, that she was whispering to herself a great deal and that her eyes had a "wild" look. The session was adjourned before the direct examination of Mrs. Morrison was concluded.

Expert Testimony of Dr. Libby Dr. Edward N. Libby, diagnostician at the Boston City Hospital was on the witness stand for two hours in the afternoon and testified as an expert in mental diseases, of the manner in which certain patients act under different circumstances.

Mrs. Burns Excused When the afternoon session opened Mrs. Burns was on the stand and under cross examination by Judge Cuttill. She was excused at 2:30 and waited to her seat. As soon as she had sat down she lost complete control of her self and slid to the floor in a fit of hysteria, frothing, slightly at the mouth, her face growing dark, and making a snoring noise that was audible throughout the court room. She was taken from the court by Doctors Mitchell and Taylor and Deputy Sheriff Tilton. It was twenty minutes before she returned to the court, accompanied by Mrs. Alice B. Shaw. She walked slowly and appeared weak. Through the afternoon Mrs. Burns sat quietly and listlessly in her chair, apparently taking little or no interest in the proceedings of the trial.

On the stand she testified that she had no recollection of many of the events which took place while she was in Fitchburg, that she could not remember how long after Mr. Burns made his visit to her at Nottingham in 1912 that she went to Fitchburg, nor how long she remained there with Mr. Burns.

Q—Where did you think that Mr. Burns secured his divorce from Mrs. Cora Burns? A—I didn't ask him.

Q—On what grounds did he get his divorce? A—He didn't say.

Q—Did he ever show you his papers? A—No. And he never asked to see mine, either.

Q—Did you think that he secured his divorce between the time he left Concord and went to Fitchburg? A—I understood it that way.

Q—Did you understand that Allen had secured a divorce from you? A—Yes.

Mrs. Burns stated that she didn't know at the time if she thought that the time which had elapsed was not short for Burns to secure his divorce and she said that she hadn't thought about it at all.

She again said that she had no recollection of her arrival at the jail nor the selection of her counsel.

Q—Didn't Mrs. Stone fill and hold the lantern for you? A—I don't think so, she might have done it but I can't remember.

Col. Bartlett in re-direct asked Mrs. Burns several questions, stating to the court that these questions were essential in connection with the testimony which would be offered by Dr. Libby. Mrs. Burns gave a description of her pains at times, saying that she suffered from severe headaches, a hard pain in her neck, and a feeling of pressure on the top of her head. At these times, she continued, she often took long walks and while at Nottingham she had walked to her brother's house. She said that she felt better after these walks. She said that at times while suffering these pains her memory was not good but that her memory between these times was somewhat better.

When the recess was over Dr. Libby was sworn and qualified as an expert in mental diagnosis of mental diseases.

Most of Dr. Libby's direct testimony was in the form of answers to hypothetical questions relative to different classes of insanity. Col. Bartlett stated a case similar to the case of Mrs. Burns as has been learned from the testimony offered. He stated that such a case would be diagnosed as one of periodic insanity.

He testified that a person suffering from that form of insanity would be subject to fits or loss of memory, that the picture of the suicide of a friend or relative would tend to cause aggravated mental trouble. He said that a person afflicted with periodic insanity is likely to have suicidal tendencies brought on by hysteria or melancholia. He said that they would be likely to have delusions as to the faithfulness of another person without reason.

Q—Does hysteria indicate a severe type of insanity? A—Not necessarily.

Q—What form does a severe type of hysteria take? A—It might take the form of epilepsy.

Q—Does hysteria indicate a mental disturbance? A—Yes.

Q—Do delusions indicate mental diseases? A—Yes.

Q—Would you say a person which had delusions might be insane? A—Yes.

Q—Do you think a person who thought her husband was intimate with another woman was sane when there was no fact to show the intimacy was sane? A—I would say that the person was mentally deficient and was laboring under a delusion.

Dr. Libby stated that a person suffering from periodic insanity while in pain might take alcoholic liquors to relieve the pain and would thus further excite the mental suffering. He stated that bromides were usually administered by physicians in these cases.

Dr. Libby was cross-examined by Attorney General James P. Tuttle but none of his testimony was changed. One fact was added, Dr. Libby stating that he believed that no person had ever committed suicide while in a sane state of mind.

At 4:30 Mrs. Morrison was placed on the stand. She testified that Mrs. Burns called to visit her on Monday, Dec. 21, the day before Burns' death, coming in the morning between 6:00 and 7:00 o'clock. She said that she stayed with her for some little time, probably an hour and that her husband, Mr. Burns, stopped for her as he came from Webb's. That they went to the Walker house together, Mr. Burns helping Mrs. Burns along over the slippery places in the road. That Mrs. Burns returned soon after alone.

Sent DeMerritt for Liquor

Mrs. Morrison testified that some time in the morning Mrs. Burns called to the home of DeMerritt and that he came to the door; that he went directly to the hotel from her house and later returned to the house with the liquor which Mrs. Burns placed on the sewing machine in the kitchen. She thought that this might have been about 2:00 o'clock but wasn't sure. She stated that Mrs. Burns was whispering to herself a great deal that morning and that her eyes had a "wild" look. That they looked so strange that she remarked it. She said that she had never seen Mrs. Burns look as badly as she did that morning. "She seemed all harassed up," she said on the stand. She seemed more nervous and worse than I had ever seen her before."

She said that Mrs. Burns had remarked that she was afraid that Mr. Burns was going to run off with Ella Clark and that she told her not to worry about that as there was no chance as another person would not let him. She said that she didn't seem cheerful that morning and that she didn't seem right mentally to her.

She said that at no time did she ever hear Mrs. Burns make any threat against Burns; and that she had often heard her say that she thought more of him than she did of any man she ever met. She said that she never saw anything to indicate that Burns didn't think just as much of Mrs. Burns as she did of him.

Heard Suicide Threat

Mrs. Morrison further testified that she had heard Mrs. Burns, on several occasions say that if her father and sister hadn't committed suicide that she would have done so. She said that she didn't hear Mrs. Burns say it that day. She said that this suicidal threat was made while Mrs. Burns was talking of her husband.

She testified that Mrs. Burns had visited her almost daily while the Burns' were living at Myra DeMerritt's and that only on stormy days and Sunday days did she stay away. She said that Mrs. Burns would come to her and bring her fortune telling cards and play with them at her house. She said that she had taken Mrs. Burns to Raymond several times in her carriage and that she had gone to Haverhill and Rochester Junction with her on the train. That on a trip to Haverhill Mrs. Burns had been taken with a spell of crying, that on the train she started to shake and tremble all over and that she went into a drug store and got something and felt better. She said that she had had another spell similar at another time.

Court was recessed until 2:36 this morning.

FRESH EGGS

Tobacco, Like Food, Must Be Fresh To Be Good

Real tobacco flavor depends upon the leaf being preserved in its natural state, possible only by pressing the leaves into plug form and keeping it in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper. The natural flavor and strength of tobacco escape when cut or granulated.

Take a Plug of Sickle that is even thoroughly dried out so that when you whittle it off it crumbles into dust, but it will burn and smoke smooth and cool as it has all of its original tobacco flavor preserved, unevaporated in Plug Form.

Whittling a pipeful is little trouble, amply repaid in both quality and quantity. Try this experiment and judge for yourself.

He has been found out. Some coffee concerns have tried to rid him of caffeine, a powerful, habit-forming drug, but without full success and in so doing have partially destroyed his only redeeming feature, pleasant taste.

Coffee is becoming more and more unpopular with thinking people everywhere. They are finding out that its drug, caffeine, is a frequent cause of headache, nervousness, biliousness, and various other ills.

The point is—can you afford to risk health and happiness for a few cups of coffee? The wise thing is to quit coffee and use

GRECIAN BLOCKADE OFFICIALLY DENIED

Great Britain Says That No Restrictions Have Been Placed on Shipping to or From Greek Ports.

London, Nov. 23.—An official statement from the British Foreign Office issued today contradicts directly the press despatches which have specially announced that an Allied blockade of Greek ports was in force and that the British were detaining Greek ships in British waters. The British Foreign Office says that no blockade of Greek ports has been instituted or is in force, and no Greek ships are being seized or detained in United Kingdom ports. A message on Sunday from Athens gave what was represented as the text of an official announcement from the British legation there, saying the Allied powers "have deemed it necessary to take certain measures which will have the effect of suspending the economic and commercial facilities which Greece has received from them heretofore." It was stated that as soon as the Allies were satisfied as to the attitude of Greece they would remove "the obstacles now opposed to the arrival of merchandise in Greece." The purpose of these measures, it was said, was to induce Greece to guarantee immunity to Serbian, French and British troops which might be forced into Greek territory from hostile action by the Greeks. It is believed in London that the Allied forces which may take refuge on Greek territory are hardly likely to be subjected to attack from the rear. The most significant indication as to the present attitude of Greece is contained in remarks made by M. Rallis, Greek minister of justice, who is quoted in a press despatch as having complained bitterly of "methods adopted by the Entente Allies." He argued that their tardiness in bringing effective support for the Serbians made Greek participation impossible.

"Back-Home"

If you cannot go "back home" for Thanksgiving let us help you observe it.

THANKSGIVING is our old-time New England holy day. Each fireside becomes an altar, each table a feast. Memory turns to the old homes, or to that of friends or relatives, and one's feet are pretty sure to follow, if

Why go into the details of that IF? The claims of other duties, the distance, the expense—all are valid reasons.

BUT—disappointed ones can do more than wish they were there. They can be present in spirit. They can project their personalities so directly—exchanging greetings—joining in the very conversation of the social hours—as to make hardly noticeable their absence from the family circle.

HOW?

BY TELEPHONE, of course; if there is a telephone in the old home or even nearby. Let US help; not so much for what we can get as for what we can do. Our toll operators will gladly assist in making the pleasure complete. If the name and telephone number you want is not listed in your telephone directory, call the toll operator and give her the name and address of the person wanted.

The following rates to typical points are published so that possible patrons may get an approximate idea of the expense of a three-minute conversation with friends and relatives at these points or at others equidistant:

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it. If you will just try a little Danderine.

GIRLS SWIM JUST FOR FUN IN IT

ROSE PITINOF AND COMPANY PLAY IN BIG TANK AFTER THEY HAVE FINISHED THEIR ACT

One would think that after going through their diving and swimming act twice in a day and then have to do it once more before the evening was over, would be about all the three girls working at the Colonial would care to do, but last evening after the picture screen was dropped at the close of their act, Miss Burke asked permission of the stage manager to take a swim for the fun of it. Miss Pitinof and Miss LeMar joined her and for twenty minutes the three little girls played and splashed about the water.

In talking about the act last evening

ROSE PITINOF

Ben Plunkett, their announcer, said that after Miss Pitinof had made her swim to the light in Boston Harbor he told her of the possibilities of this sort of act in vaudeville. At the end of her first season Mr. Plunkett secured the right for a swimming and diving show at Revere Beach and for three years Miss Pitinof and a dozen or more girls have been drawing big crowds. This season Mr. Plunkett chose Miss Irene LeMar and Miss Marie Burke, both Boston girls, as the two best suited of the summer act for a season on the road.

As to their appearance on the stage the Manchester Mirror had the following to say while the act was in Manchester last week.

"One of Rose Pitinof's diving girls at the Palace was a veritable Venus. Some of the artistic poses in the front row said they had never been anything more graceful and more perfect in lines. The trouble with a whole lot of these expert girl swimmers is that they are better swimmers than they are Venuses."

The big act was again a hit at the Colonial Theatre last evening and a big audience was well pleased with the two other headline attractions as well. Warren and Brockway, with their funny comedy musical act and Pete Griffin scored big hits.

CONTROL OF B. & M. COST NOTHING

New York, Nov. 23.—John L. Billard, a coal and lumber dealer of Meriden, Ct., bought the New Haven Railway, $11,743,500 control in the Boston and Maine Railroad Company and did not pay one cent for it.

That was testified to by Charles S. Mellen today in the New Haven conspiracy trial before Federal Judge Hunt.

"Mr. Billard stepped into our shoes" was the way Mellen expressed it. The Billard angle is the most important link in the government's chain of evidence.

The New Haven held 100,948 shares in the Boston & Maine, valued in 1903 at $125 a share. The Massachusetts Legislature for one year prohibited the merger by the Colo act.

The $11,743,500 of stock was turned over to Billard and on it he borrowed Bank of New York. For the balance Billard gave the New Haven $2,743,500 in gold notes of the New England Investment and Securities Company, a New Haven subsidiary, which he had received in exchange for stock in the New England Navigation Company, the name under which the New Haven carried on its steamship business.

Thanksgiving.

The Thanksgiving anniversary comes this year under conditions producing a great deal of regret and bemoan, and yet perhaps the American people never had more to be thankful for. The one great thing for which every heart in this country should be grateful is the fact that it has not been drawn into the prodigious struggle that is causing the civilized world to tremble. Amidst wars and rumors of war the country is at peace and will in all probability so remain, disturbing as are world conditions today.

The conditions at home are all calculated to promote contentment and inspire gratitude. Never before in the United States were such bountiful crops harvested. There is enough for our own people and much to spare for the suffering nations abroad. This means prosperity for American farmers and good business along practically all lines, for the products of the soil constitute the foundation of all true prosperity.

The public health is good. There have been no epidemics of serious disease. The educational institutions of the country, public and private, are in flourishing condition. The church is fulfilling the mission of its high ministry, the cause of temperance is advancing with rapid strides. At the present time the demand for labor is strong and healthful, and everything indicates that the demand will continue, making the outlook for the winter more cheerful than it was a year ago. There are very many causes for thanksgiving of the most heartfelt sort.

The formal observance of the day will be as in former years. There will be family reunions and feasting and merry-making in many innocent forms, and amid scenes of plenty and contentment there will not be forgotten the sorrows and sufferings which so large a part of the world is undergoing. In no selfish spirit will the American people contemplate their blessings on this anniversary of ancient and revered origin. Rather will their sympathy go out to those laboring and suffering under the horrors of war, while their prayers ascend to the Giver of All Good for the speedy restoration of an honorable peace throughout the world.

Joseph Hillstrom, who was executed at Salt Lake City last week for murder, requested that his body be buried "outside of Utah," and the state cheerfully granted the request. As a result it was shipped to the I. W. W. at Chicago, where an "international" funeral was held, with speeches in eleven languages. It would now seem safe to assume that the incident is closed.

It is time for the president makers to let Justice Charles E. Hughes of the United States supreme court alone. He has repeatedly said he would not take the nomination if it were offered to him, and to persist in ignoring his statement and wishes is no compliment to him or to those who continue to conjure with his name.

Henry Ford is to labor with the president for a conference of neutral nations in the interest of peace. His motives are not to be questioned, but it still remains true that his ability and judgment are best displayed in the manufacture of motor cars.

It is a relief to be informed that whether Mrs. Galt's wedding outfit is selected in Paris or New York, there is no possibility of the matter becoming a diplomatic question. The diplomatists are busy just now with more important matters.

President Wilson is to have a 35-pound turkey for his Thanksgiving dinner, and it is to be a southern bird in every sense of the word. Not only does it come from Kentucky, but the first name of the donor, Mr. Trimble, is South.

It is predicted that, owing to the lack of German dyes, the "blue jeans of the fathers" may soon have to give way to pink overalls. Well, there has never been any objections to that color for the overalls worn by stage girls.

Eugene V. Debbs, who has run for president four times on the socialist ticket, declines the nomination this year. He does not state his reasons, but it certainly cannot be a fear of the cares and responsibilities of the office.

An agricultural paper says bookkeeping is what is needed on the farm to show what the profits are. And yet there are farms which would require very expert bookkeeping to show any profits at all.

The troubles of Great Britain multiply. Mrs. Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, is now getting after some of the men high in the government. True it is that "Troubles never come singly."

CURRENT OPINION

Japan Pleased That the United States Is to Strengthen Its Defenses.

The United States is a country with great public buildings and public works and private riches of all kinds. The wealth of the country in this respect has caused amazement throughout the world.

But the neglect of the means of national defense on the part of the United States has been a matter of great surprise in Japan.

Now that the United States is getting ready to increase its armament the Japanese are far from being surprised and consider that the United States is removing a serious error in its national policy. At least that is my own view of it, and it is also the view of the great majority of the Japanese who take an interest in international affairs. They want the friendship of the United States and want this country to be safe.

Not a great deal of comment has been aroused in Japan by the agitation in this country for preparedness for war, and the general comment of the press has been that the war has awakened the United States to see the mistake of neglecting its army and navy. There has been no serious attempt in Japan to represent that the agitation here is any way hostile to us, and it is generally seen there in its true light.—By Haruki Yawabara, Japanese Commissioner to Panama-Pacific Exposition.

BUSH WINS CASE.

Former Portsmouth Boxer Gets $845.93 From the Railroad.

George Bush, the former Portsmouth boxing instructor won his suit against the Boston Elevated railroad. The jury awarded Bush the sum of $845.93 for bodily injuries received when he was assaulted by a motorman and conductor on Washington street. The case has been on trial for nearly two weeks.

It was claimed by Bush that about midnight on July 11, 1914, he was put off a car on Washington street at the South End, being pushed pulled and hit until he was quite seriously hurt. John L. Sullivan came all the way from his farm in Abington to testify and in reply to questions from Bush's lawyer, Herbert A. Kenny, told about Bush's condition before and after the alleged assault.

As soon as it became known that the famous former heavyweight champion of the world was to testify persons flocked to the court room on the fourth floor from all parts of the building and every seat was occupied while John L. was testifying.

ATTENDED CLASS REUNION.

Rev. W. M. Partridge, rector of St. John's, attended a dinner by the class of '96, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at the Engineers' Club in Boston Tuesday evening. He would be pleased to meet any Technology men in this region, particularly of the class of '96, in order to have the opportunity to talk over the general reunion coming next summer before the opening of the new Technology buildings.

The train from Portland due here at 1:38 Wednesday afternoon was run in two sections to accommodate the holiday travel. The first section consisted of eight cars in charge of Conductor Sanderson while the second consisted of twelve cars in charge of Conductor John MacDonald.

DARDANELLES EXPEDITION A GREAT FAILURE

Opinion of the German Military Experts Who Predict Withdrawal by First of the Year.

Berlin, via Amsterdam, Nov. 24.—The Anglo-French expedition to the Dardanelles has proved a complete failure in the opinion of the German military experts. Fighting is still in progress on the Gallipoli, but the attacks are getting weaker and weaker and are being made to cover the withdrawal of large forces, who are being sent into the Balkans. Although a large force is going to Egypt to protect the Suez Canal, military men think that in six weeks all of the forces of the Allies will be withdrawn from the Dardanelles.

STARTED SUPPLIES BEFORE WAR BEGAN

Chartered Steamers and Sent Them From New York to Meet German Warships.

(Special to The Herald)

New York, Nov. 24.—The Hamburg-American line chartered American steamships before there was a declaration of war in Europe and sent them to South American ports to supply German ships, meeting them at prearranged places, showing German preparedness extended to every branch of the service. These facts were established today in the trial of the officers of the Hamburg line.

WILL PUT BIG FORCE IN BALKANS

(Special to The Herald)

London, Nov. 24.—England and France intend to put an army of 600,000 men in the Balkans for the salvation of Serbia. The Anglo-French war committee have agreed to prosecute the most bitter campaign against the German, Austrian and Bulgarian forces in the Balkans and the plans are well under way.

"ALL EXCEPT THE FISH"

Jules B. Schloss in Newspaperdom tells the story of the dorky who "was getting all the pleasure of fishing except the fish." Some advertisers enjoy all the expense of advertising without the profits. They do not fish where the fish are. The shrewd advertiser finds out where the best markets are located and uses newspaper advertising to land the game. He advertises for definite customers in the most efficient way and his bookkeepers do not have to use red ink for balances. Manufacturers interested in increasing the efficiency of their advertising are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Nov. 24—Face to face with an estimated annual deficit of not less than fifty millions of dollars, and with a billion dollars defense program awaiting approval, the administration must decide what action congress will take to refill the national coffers. Four methods today are meeting with favor. A tax on war profits, an inheritance tax, increase of income tax to affect incomes exceeding $20,000, renewal and increasing the scope of the present war revenue.

While the government wrestled with extra treasury problem, the increased prosperity is causing the bankers trouble by the surplus of ready money. Three members of the reserve board within the last few days have uttered warning of inflation is not accompanied by the utmost caution.

Tomorrow, being Thanksgiving, all places of business will be closed.

SAFETY AND QUALITY FIRST

Here is a show that we think is the best ever. The acts are so well known in the vaudeville world that they hardly need any introduction.

It does not take a great amount of space to tell about the offerings at the Colonial. They speak for themselves. The thousands of patrons do the advertising.

This is the program for today. Quality first, remember. There is something on this bill that will just capture every woman and child in Portsmouth. Look it over.

New York, Nov. 24—Gale-battered and storm-tossed the Holland-American liner Rynden arrived from Nottingham three days over due. It was the worst voyage in the history of the liner, which ran into one gale after another and had to fight her way through heavy seas and head winds.

Among the passengers was Brant Whitlock, U. S. Minister to Belgium, who has played a more conspicuous role than any other official from this country in Europe.

The cattle were shipped to Manchester and taken to Rock's abattoir in West Manchester, where under the supervision of Commissioner Andrew L. Feltner of the state department of agriculture and federal inspectors they were slaughtered. Commissioner Feltner took charge of the killing at the request of Business Agent Horatio K. Libbey of the State Board of Trustees.

BODY OF AGED FISHERMAN FOUND

Marooned in Lake Winnepesaukee and Dies of Exposure.

Laconia, Nov. 23.—The body of Fred Brown of Center Harbor, aged 60 missing since Saturday when he left on a fishing trip, was found by searchers this afternoon, stretched out on the shore of the South Neck, Lake Winnepesaukee.

Brown had evidently been dead for some time and from scattered firebrands and other signs quite visible, it would seem that marooned on the lone and wind-swept point he had died of exposure.

Brown disappeared Saturday and when searchers found his empty motor boat with coat and fishing tackle inside it was feared that he had become stranded on one of the numerous islands in the lake. No trace of him was found until today when an organized party started out of search every point about the big expanse of water.

It was believed that Mr. Brown was taken ill while near shore and unable to start his boat, had landed and attempted to start a fire. The winds that prevailed unusually strong Sunday night might have set the boat adrift and it would have been impossible to have existed on the barren stretch, without food or shelter.

Medical Referee Horn of Conway investigated and attributed death due to exposure.

Mr. Brown had been a resident of Center Harbor for many years and was held in high esteem. He was a carpenter and boat builder. He is survived by his wife and one son, Arnold Brown of Boston and two sisters.

Darcey of St. Louis announces that she has written a letter to Dr. H. J. Haiselden, the Chicago physician who permitted the defective Bollinger baby to die, in which she said:

"I have a little boy, 5 years old, who the doctors say, is a defective. He now is in the city sanatorium, (busane any-um), where there are 14 others like him. I worry so over him. I would be glad if he were to die. Now, is there any way that he could die, or do you think that there is any cure for such children?"

Mr. Darcey, who is a laundry foreman, knew nothing of the letter until it was mailed, but said he agreed with his wife the child would be better off dead.

"I wrote the things I did to the Chicago doctor," said Mrs. Darcey, "because I have been told that an operation could be performed on my boy to help him; but there is every chance he would not survive the operation, and physicians have refused to perform it," said Mrs. Darcey. "I wouldn't want to kill him of course, but I would rather have him dead than in his present condition."

BOTH BOARDS TO SIT AT HEARING

Concord, Nov. 23.—The New Hampshire public service commission will sit jointly with the Massachusetts public commission on the hearing to pass on the fare increase by the North-eastern Street Railway. The company operates lines in New Hampshire and Massachusetts and recently announced a fare increase from five to six cents per fare unit, all over the system.

Both commissions ordered the new rates suspended until March 1, or determination of the merits of the increase in the meantime. It was decided that inasmuch as the same issues were to be considered in both states, that time and expense would be saved by having a joint hearing.

Former Public Service Commissioner John E. Benton of Keene is counsel for the railway.

BOB OTT MUSICAL COMEDY COMPANY

Did you ever look into a galeidroscope slowly turning? It the while? You see a lot of little particles at the other end, a variegated assortment of shapes and colors, each bearing a relation to the other, and as the machine revolves constantly changing, forming different designs, some curious, some unique and some funny. That is what you will see at the Portsmouth Theatre next week when "Bob Ott" presents his big Musical Comedy Co. These comedies are as near human Kaleidescopes as has yet been evolved from the brain of man. "Bob Ott" is a fun maker well and widely known, the mere mention of his name inspiring a reminiscent chuckle.

A laugh provoker of rare effectiveness comes to the Portsmouth Theatre next week when "Joyful Bob Ott" presents his big musical comedy company. For clean uproarious, legitimate fun, "Bob Ott's" Musical Comedies are the most spirited musical force comedies that have been offered to the public of this city for many moons. The cast is an all star one, of course, "Bob Ott" is the cyclone around which the constellation revolves. He has a part which is peculiarly adapted to his original style of comedy and the lines of his musical comedies are so full of rich humor and the plays so full of funny complications which follow one after another in riotous rotation, that only when the curtain falls on the last act can one control ones laugh controlling nerves. The name of Bob Ott has become synonymous of fun. He will be seen here at the Portsmouth Theatre next week. The most skeptical can feel secure in the thought that the money paid to see these musical comedies is money well spent, and that well employed, for these places have been tried and more than found their mission. Laugh making, as they keep the audience in one continuous roar from start to finish. The opening bill is entitled "Yours Truly." Secure your seats early.

ASKS THAT PEABODY PHYSICIAN BE RELEASED.

St. Louis, Nov. 23.—Dr. Edward Stuart of Boston is endeavoring through the American and Bulgarian consulates, to obtain the release of four American physicians, who remained at Uskup after the Bulgarian occupation. The men he seeks to free are Stanley S. Osborne, of Peabody, Mass., Charles E. Fox, of Baltimore, Henry Plotz of New York and George Baber of Brooklyn. Dr. A. F. Cornelius of Berea, Ky., has announced that he prefers to remain at Uskup with the Lady Paget Hospital.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Nov. 23.—Andrew L. Felker, Commissioner of Agriculture and President E. T. Fairchild were guests of honor last night when the college agricultural club dedicated its new quarters. The club has been assigned to one of the rooms made when the upper floor of Morrill Hall was remodelled last summer.

Professor F. W. Taylor delivered the dedicatory address, taking for his subject "The Advance of Agriculture in the Last 50 Years." Mr. Felker discussed the needs and advantages of New Hampshire agriculture and showed many photographs. He said that New Hampshire College is responsible in every case where scientific agriculture is practiced in this state today.

W. D. F. Hayden of the Class of 1897, manager of the Middlebrook Farm of Dover, who was at one time secretary of the predecessor of the present agricultural club told something of the history of the organization.

Others who spoke were Professor J. C. Kendall, Director of the Experiment station, Professor Fred Rasmussen of the Dairy department and Professor Richard Whoriskey of the Modern Language department, and Professor O. L. Erkman of the department of Animal Husbandry.
